Conference to match entrepreneurs, investors

The Business Journal of Phoenix - June 20, 2007

Applications are now being accepted for businesses hoping to make a pitch at the Invest Southwest Capital Conference in December.

Early stage and emerging growth companies seeking $250,000 to $5 million in venture capital can apply to present their business plans to investors from across the country, including venture capital and private equity firms.

A mentor team of experienced professionals will be assigned to each selected presenter to provide advice and business coaching.

The application deadline is Aug. 7. The conference will be held Dec. 12-13 in North Scottsdale.
